

Git and Github Summary

This document discusses the activity of the different authors of the scottyab/rootbeer repository. It looks at the source files in the before mentioned repository. I have defined source files as any files with the extension (.cpp,.h,.java,.png,.sh,.xml), this is with some caveats like the root folder can't be the library directory. Another caveat is for .xml files, they have to be in the src directory.

The below chart shows the activity of all the authors for this repository. This shows that there were at least 4 big pushes to the repository throughout the last 9 years of this project. The biggest lack of activity was between the 300th week and 475th week where there were no commits at all in the project. The main contributor is Scott Alexander-Bown with many files edited in the earlier years of the project.

